The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 24.

For Governor of New Mexico from June 7, 1901, to June 7, 1905, or until statehood is attained, Miguel A. Otero.

Prince Edwards Island has a population of over 100,000, and yet in the last thirty years not a single divorce has been granted on the island. Domestic happiness, rather than domestic infelicity, are the rule. It is probably the ease with which divorce can be secured elsewhere that increases the desire for legal separation, and that is in the way of efforts to live happily together of many a man and many a wife.

Christmas is a season of joy, of well-doing. It is a time when selfishness should be banished so utterly that charity and the giving of gifts will extend beyond the family circle into the world of poverty and distress that is never far away from even the greatest palace. Try to make happy some poor soul, some innocent child who never has had a Christmas joy or is not likely to have one this year. That will be the most noble way of celebrating the great Christmas festival.

The government intends to spend $4,000,000 for a reservoir system for the Pima Indians. One of the reservoirs is to be the biggest in the world. Thousands of acres are to be irrigated by its means, and fully 8000 Indians will be given the means of making a livelihood by agriculture. The government should not confine public improvements of that kind to the Indians alone. The sum annually spent for rivers and harbors, amounting to $60,000,000, should be duplicated annually for the construction of irrigation works in other parts of the arid west. This is a just demand, more than that made for the improvement of rivers and harbors.

The Las Vegas Record joins the procession in the support of Gov. Miguel A. Otero for reappointment. It says: "That Miguel A. Otero will be reappointed governor to succeed himself, no one who is in a position to know anything about the situation doubts. Governor Otero has given the territory a good, clean, businesslike administration, just as he said he would when he was appointed. There is no reason why he should not be reappointed. It is quite certain that there will be but very few changes in our territorial officers for the next four years."

The clever editorial writer of the Las Vegas Republican gets on a high horse because the New Mexican does not enumerate the Las Vegas Republican and El Independiente among the supporters of Governor Otero's reappointment. The New Mexican is rather glad that the Las Vegas Republican feels so bad about this; it shows that the Republican is in earnest about supporting Governor Otero for reappointment. But why not hoist the colors at the head of the editorial columns of the Republican and El Independiente, so that every one may see at a glance where the Republican and El Independiente stand? The New Mexican is glad to welcome the Republican and El Independiente to the ranks of the eighteen newspapers in the territory which have come out boldly thus far in favor of Governor Otero's reappointment.

Saving at the Wrong End.

The Albuquerque Citizen says: "It is said that a strong effort will be made to stop the territorial appropriation of $500 a year to each of the federal judges. The advocates of the retrenchment insist that there is no necessity for this territorial expense, the federal government paying the salaries of the judges in the territory."

This is all bosh. There will be no attempt made to stop the territorial appropriation allowed to judges of the supreme court. This kind of talk may fool some people, but it amounts to nothing. The judges of the territorial supreme court are not receiving a salary from the United States commensurate with the duties of the office they hold and the work they perform. The territory can well afford to pay yearly the small stipend the judges receive. This kind of reform will not go down. It is too thin. The people of the territory are willing to pay this, and newspaper talk simply for the purpose of filling up will be of no avail.

All for Otero.

The Las Vegas Republican, El Independiente, the Socorro Chieftain and the Rio Grande Republican have come out above board for the reappointment of Governor Otero. According to the Las Vegas Republican, the Albuquerque Journal-Democrat and Albuquerque Citizen are also in favor of the governor's reappointment, but as they have not yet expressed their opinion on this point at the head of their editorial columns, the New Mexican has not yet given them credit for their undoubted intentions. There are some papers which want to hold off to the last minute to be certain, quite certain, which way the cat will jump, before they express an opinion. The New Mexican is not of that class, nor are the other seventeen Republican newspapers in New Mexico which have thus far openly expressed their opinion that Governor Otero ought to be and deserves to be governor of New Mexico for the next four years, and the New Mexican might as well add now, will be reappointed to that honor by President McKinley. Even, several Democratic papers, bearing no particular love for Governor Otero, acknowledge that the logic of the situation demands his reappointment, and that the last election was a complete endorsement of his administration.

New Mexico Does not Want to be Annexed.

One of the southern New Mexico Democratic editors wants to be annexed to El Paso, together with southern New Mexico and southern Arizona. It is another illustration of the fact that the average Democratic editor has absolutely no spark of patriotism or state pride, but will counsel anything from high treason to skulduggery in order to be "ferriest" something. This is especially the case after he has spent a night out and is still suffering with a "cabeza grande."

The suggestion of the New York Times that New Mexico be annexed to Colorado, and Arizona to Utah, must be taken more seriously because it is proposed by an influential eastern journal, which, however, has more than once betrayed its ignorance in speaking of New Mexico and its people. The Times says:

"A just solution of the question of statehood for New Mexico and Arizona would be reached by annexing them respectively to Utah and Colorado; each of these states would gain a congressional seat, and that section of the country would gain two votes in congress and the electoral college. This is all that even their wonderful progress entitles them to. By the recent census Colorado had 339,700 population; add New Mexico's 193,775, and we would have a state of 533,475. Utah has 275,565; add Arizona with 122,212, and this would give a total of 397,777. These would be fairly average states. There should be no more failures like Nevada."

"Oklahoma and Indian Territory should come in as one state, with a total population of 790,205."

It is unfortunate that Nevada was admitted as a state, because it will be ever held up as a warning whenever a new territory seeks admission to statehood. But Nevada was a jimmie state when it was admitted. It had not at that time one-third the population that New Mexico has to-day. It never consisted of more than a few mining camps, and never had the elements of permanency in its population that New Mexico has had these last 300 years. It is not possible for New Mexico to go backward in population unless there is a general retrogression of the human race. In addition, New Mexico was promised statehood fifty years ago, when the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo was signed. It has demonstrated its fitness to become one of the states of the union; it has double the population of Wyoming, five times that of Nevada, a greater population than the state of Delaware or the state of Idaho, and it is anything but justice that keeps New Mexico out of the union. The proposition of annexation to Colorado or to Texas is more absurd than would be a project to annex Ohio to Pennsylvania. New Mexico is one of the most distinctive geographical divisions in the United States. Ethnologically and otherwise, it differs from the states that surround it. Colorado and New Mexico together would make a region as large as the German empire or France, and five times as large as the state of New York. There is only one just answer to the demands of New Mexico to be admitted, and that is the immediate granting of statehood to the territory.

A False Impression.

Lieut. S. C. Sinclair, of Fort Bayard, may be a good soldier and a man of intelligence, but when he says that "a good deal of lawlessness is prevalent in New Mexico, and that in many towns the faro, roulette and other gambling houses are wide open, and the authorities seem to regard them as matters of necessity," he is creating an impression that New Mexico is more lawless than any other section of the country. Lieutenant Sinclair continues in the Washington Post: "Shooting brawls are of common occurrence. Recently three men were killed in saloon fights in the little town of Central, not far from Fort Bayard."

It must be acknowledged that lawlessness exists in New Mexico, but there are more murders to the square mile in New York City than occur to a thousand square miles in New Mexico. There is more gambling and open and secret lawlessness in the city of Philadelphia than there is in all of New Mexico. There is more bigamy and other crime in Chicago than there is in this territory, yet those cities are the centers of civilization of states which have advanced most in culture and wealth. It is not just to compare the morals of a mining camp with those of some religious settlement, for in mining camps is done openly what is often done in secret in more sedate towns. Taken all in all, however, the morality of the worst mining camp is not so far behind that which prevails among the most polished society of an eastern seaside resort. It cannot be expected that New Mexico be a shining light upon the hill within whose rays no crime is committed, no immorality exists, no gambling is allowed, for the territory is settled in great part by people from the eastern centers of civilization, and they have brought with them vices and evils which were not recognized or tolerated among the native people before the easterners came.

A Boomerang.

The anti-imperialists who looked forward with great expectation toward the decision of the supreme court of the United States on the question whether the constitution follows the flag, have been suddenly struck dumb by the fear that the supreme court might decide their way of thinking. Strange to say, that would take the bottom from under their feet. If the Philippines are determined to be under the constitution, how are they ever going to be brought out from under it? How are American citizens and American territory going to be alienated?

So the Democratic and assistant Democratic predictions are becoming less and less cheerful and less and less positive that the verdict of the supreme tribunal will "put the Republican party in a hole," will "embarrass the administration." Of course, the administration would be embarrassed if a majority of the supreme justices should proclaim that the constitution extended automatically over the Philippines—that Luzon and Panay were just as distinctly American territory as Arizona or Oklahoma. But while the administration would be embarrassed, "anti-imperialism" would be destroyed. There would not be so much as a gasp in favor of scuttling away and leaving these East Indian territories of ours to the care of other powers, more resolute and resourceful. There could be no more talk of "tyranny" if the Tagalogs of the bush and swamp were entitled to all the civic rights and privileges of the professors of Harvard University.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE NOTES.

Another ex-Student Will Go to Manila to Try His Fortune.

Special Cor. New Mexican.
Mesilla Park, N. M., December 21.—Capt. Jack Crawford voluntarily delivered to the students of the agricultural college at Mesilla Park a most delightful and interesting address on the 4th inst. His humor and pathos were greatly enjoyed by the students and teachers alike.

The Christmas vacation of the college begins on Saturday, December 22, and ends on January 6, 1901. A good number of the students will go home for their holidays, taking advantage of the low railroad rates offered.

A bell and mountings, weighing 875 pounds, has been ordered for the college, to be placed in the tower of the main building. The cost of the bell has been defrayed by a fund raised by the sophomore class of the institution, who have shown a most commendable spirit and interest in the matter.

Wood carving in the preparatory department of the college has been introduced during the present school year for the first time. All students take regular work in this branch, and the results so far are surprisingly good. The native students in the department appear to be especially proficient in this handicraft, and in clay modeling, which has now been taught for two years.

The consignment of high-grade cattle, consisting of Shorthorns and Herefords, purchased by the college and experiment station during the last summer, recently arrived. This marks the beginning of a new line of investigation at the college, and one which will be of much value and interest to the stock growers of the territory. The college desires to arouse more interest in the raising of high-grade cattle, and it will make thorough and careful investigations and experiments in feeding and along other lines, and will publish the results in bulletin form.

An interesting and not widely known cure for alfalfa bloat in cattle was recently tried at the college, when one of the cattle bloated. This remedy consists of giving large doses of linseed oil internally to induce belching. In the case referred to, no linseed oil was at hand, and the matter being urgent, ordinary coal oil was given with the desired result, the cow recovering rapidly.

Nothing daunted by the defeat administered to the foot ball team of the college by the Indian school at Albuquerque, the boys are determined to gain more victories during the present season. On the 15th inst. the college boys defeated the Las Cruces team by a score of 15 to 0, and again on the 19th inst. by a score of 6 to 0. A match game is arranged with the Organ team for the 24th at the college, and with the El Paso team on Christmas day.

Another ex-student of the ethnography department of the college is about to go to the Philippines as stenographer in English and Spanish. Inspired by the success of a former student, Ralph E. McElie, who holds a most lucrative position in Manila as a stenographer, J. E. Owen, of Albuquerque, will leave early in the new year for the distant islands. The college is receiving far more applications for English-Spanish stenographers than it has graduates to send out, these demands coming from all parts of Mexico and the United States.

The chemical department of the college, in a press bulletin recently issued, gives some results of sugar beet analyses for the past season. It again becomes most apparent that New Mexico sugar beets stand unequaled in this country for the quality and amount of sugar contained therein. The best sugar beets in the territory are grown in San Juan and Santa Fe counties, and these beets, in results covering the last four years, give a percentage of sugar from 25 to 70 per cent greater than is usually considered necessary to make them a paying crop. These investigations should be of much value in attracting capital to this territory in connection with the sugar industry.

SANTA FE RAILROAD CHANGES.

A New Division to be Created in Colorado—A Joint Traffic Agreement.

It is probable that a marked change will be made in operating the western division of the Santa Fe road in Colorado at an early date. Plans are under consideration to operate the joint track of the Colorado & Southern and Santa Fe between Pueblo and Denver under one superintendent. This division at present extends as far as Garden City. When the change is made it is expected that that part of the road lying between Pueblo and Dodge City will constitute a new division, which will also include the branch to Canon City and Florence.

Rumor has it that Superintendent Parker is slated for the joint superintendency, and that Trainmaster Dean will occupy his present position under Superintendent Parker, with headquarters at Pueblo. Trainmaster Fox, of the New Mexico division, is spoken of as the superintendent of the new division between Pueblo and Dodge City. Although no official information of the contemplated change has been received, it is generally conceded that it will go into effect.

Improvements on the track between Pueblo and Denver have been made, and workmen are kept busy in making extensive additions to the yard room of the Santa Fe at Pueblo. While not officially announced, there is no further doubt that a satisfactory agreement has been entered into by the Santa Fe and Colorado & Southern roads to keep in force the joint track agreement. Under the new arrangement the Colorado & Southern trains will be operated from Pueblo.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines, but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by A. C. Ireland.

Many persons have had the experience of Mr. Peter Sherman, of North Stratford, N. H., who says: "For years I suffered torture from chronic indigestion, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure made a well man of me." It digests what you eat and is a certain cure for dyspepsia and every form of stomach trouble. It gives relief at once even in the worst cases, and can't help but do you good. Ireland's Pharmacy.
